Oxford Health
NHS Foundation Trust

Library Newsletter

Intelligence Insider – November 2025

In this edition

BMJ Case Reports available 1

Trans & Non-Binary Book Club.....2

PEP Psychoanalytic Electronic Publishing.....3

BMJ Case Reports now available in our collection

We are delighted to announce that our library has secured access to BMJ Case Reports, the world's largest online repository of peer-reviewed case reports, with more than 20,000 articles from over 70 countries.

Adding BMJ Case Reports to our library means that you now have direct access to a rich, diverse, and continually expanding body of clinical knowledge. Whether you are seeking examples to support your research, material to enhance your teaching, or insights to inform your practice, this resource is designed to meet your needs. We encourage you to explore the collection and take advantage of the opportunities it offers for learning, collaboration, and professional growth.

Instructions on how to search for cases or submit yours are available through our library website.

BMJ Case Reports offer a vast range of real-world scenarios, from everyday cases that highlight practical approaches to care, to rare and unusual presentations that broaden clinical knowledge. The journal's supportive peer review process ensures that new cases are published rapidly, keeping the collection fresh and relevant.

Please let us know at library.enquiries@oxfordhealth.nhs.uk if you have any work due to be published.

Trans & Non-Binary Book Club

Our January book club session will be taking place over Microsoft Teams at 1pm on Wednesday 21st January 2026. This session is being run in collaboration with the Trans and Non-Binary Support Network, and we're really pleased to be working together to encourage awareness and connection across the Trust.

We will be reading Bad Girls by Camila Sosa Villada.

Villada's novel is a fictional autobiographical work that moves back and forth through Camila's life, beginning with her childhood in La Falda and following her journey to the city of Córdoba. The story is narrated by Camila herself and explores the challenges she has faced as a trans woman, alongside the lives of the close-knit community of women she meets. The vivid reflections within the book open up space for reflection on identity and belonging, which we hope will inspire an insightful discussion.

We have secured eleven copies for people attending the book club and we will be giving them away on a first-come, first-served basis. To participate in the book club meeting and receive a copy please email library.enquiries@oxfordhealth.nhs.uk.

Holding it in late January also gives us a good run up to LGBT+ History Month, when we'll be sharing reflections from the session in our February newsletter.

PEP - Psychoanalytic Electronic Publishing

PEP-Web is a comprehensive, searchable digital archive of psychoanalytic literature, including thousands of journal articles, classic books, and videos. It will help you to extend your knowledge of psychoanalysis, find specific content and explore connections between texts.

Available via the NHS Knowledge and Library Hub, under Further Resources, use your OpenAthens credentials to access full-text articles.

Contact us

Require an article or a book? Want to learn how to perform a quicker and more effective search on specific topics? Need a literature search for guidelines, case studies, research papers or a quality improvement project? Want to keep up to date with the latest information in your field of interest? Contact us at library.enquiries@oxfordhealth.nhs.uk or take a look at our website.